

BOMB SHATTERS TENEMENT WITH POLICE ON GUARD

Explosion Imperilling Fifteen
Families Knocks Fixed Post
Man From His Feet.

Despite the fact that "Stilly Row" and other blocks in the same neighborhood of blackmailing and vendettas were patrolled last night by Italian detectives to prevent the setting off of bombs, enemies of Michael Valino early today managed to blow up his men's furnishing store at No. 30-32 Prince street.

Valino is wealthy and owns the new tenement where he has his shop. For protected those who had determined to wreck the place, and not one of the detectives was at hand when the fuse was lighted. A fixed post policeman was two blocks away, but around a corner. The bomb was filled with chemicals and exploded upward and outward, ripping away the front of the store and shattering every window on Prince street between Mott and Eliza-both. The fixed post policeman was nearly knocked over by the concussion. In the six floors of the tenement were fifteen families, including the Valino family, consisting of parents and two children. Terrified, they rushed to the streets and remained there in the rain and fog, fearing a second explosion.

In addition to detectives of the Italian squad, plain clothes men from the Mulberry street station were put on the case by Capt. Farley. They urged and pleaded with Valino for information he could give, but he refused to say a word, fearing for the lives of his wife and children.

There is no questioning that the bomb was exploded after a failure to collect blackmail. The entire neighborhood has been at the mercy of blackmailers for years, and in the next block the Scimena and De Stefano children were kidnapped and held for ransom. The "barrel murder" is also said to have been committed in a tenement basement there.

Women Who Wear the Eppo

Enjoy that feeling of ease and comfort which comes from the knowledge that there is no opening to gap at the back, no draw strings to pull or break, and no puckers and gathers to spoil the perfectly smooth contour of your outer garment.

The Eppo Petticoat is made with an invisible elastic waist band at the back and fastens at the side with flat invisible glove clasps

These are patented features which make the Eppo the most perfectly fitting petticoat you can buy.

Eppo Petticoats are made of the very best and choicest materials—cottons, messalines, tulle and all silk jerseys, and in every prevailing shade and style.
